Continuing the Circle of Love 25 years of hope and healing

The WARM Place Co-Founders Peggy Bohme and Dr. John Richardson

As we look back and reflect upon the last 25 years of The WARM Place, we think of our humble beginnings in August 1989 when eight families walked up to a small cottage house on Cooper Street in Fort Worth. Eight families with broken hearts. Eight families with missing pieces. Eight families looking for hope. What happened that night is now a part of our history. The memories that were shared, the tears that fell, and the hearts that began to heal all shared a part of their grief journey with The WARM Place.

Twenty-five years later, The WARM Place has companioned over 30,000 children and their families along their grief journeys due to the vision of Peggy Bohme and Dr. John Richardson; a vision that started from tragedy. In 1984, 14-year-old Michael Bohme died of bone cancer. As Peggy mourned the death of her son, she also realized that her nine-year-old daughter Meghan needed a place where she could express her feelings and receive emotional support. Dr. John Richardson confirmed Peggy's belief that Texas needed an organization to help children like Meghan and committed to partnering with her to do something about it. On that August night five years later, they saw their vision become a reality.

The WARM Place was the first grief support center for children in Texas. We have trained other agencies and professionals throughout our community, and raised awareness for children's grief. In 1990, The WARM Place received national recognition from President George H. Bush and was awarded the 230th Daily Point of Light Award. In 2014, we received a proclamation from the Texas State Senate commending The WARM Place as a "unique treasure to Tarrant County and the state" in honor of our 25th anniversary. Most importantly, the lives that we have touched are those of our families that attend our program- the families that join us in the evenings that dinner and group. Jeanne Moster turned to The WARM Place after several referrals from family and friends. "My son, Cody, and I started coming to The WARM Place in February 2013. His dad, Jamie, died suddenly in September 2012. The death of his dad was sudden and the circumstances were very traumatic for a 14-year-old boy. Cody says that he benefitted most by being able to talk freely to adults and other teens that have had similar experiences. He could talk about his dad, express his thoughts and be emotional without fear of being judged. Hope is the greatest gift that Cody and I received at The WARM Place, and we are both so grateful."

The saying "we've come a long way" comes to mind, with the emphasis on the "we." Peggy put it best as she shared her thoughts on this most important milestone:

"As I reflect on my journey in creating The Warm Place with Dr. John Richardson I realize we have created a circle of love for grieving children. Over the past 25 years, we have built a very strong agency because of the board of directors' leadership, the very dedicated staff, the hundreds of volunteers who support our families with unconditional love, and of course, our very loyal and generous donors."

Since the beginning, our services have remained at no cost to the families. We are saddened for families to need us but are so very glad to be here when they do. We look forward to continuing our work throughout the community over the next 25 years. Most of all as our circle of love continues, we look forward to the smiles that will return, and the laughter that will replace the pain as hearts continue to heal at The WARM Place.

The original WARM Place on Cooper St. and our current home on Lipsomb St. in Fort Worth.

Special Thanks to Sheila B. Johnson

Twenty-five years ago, The WARM Place was blessed with a wonderful gift of friendship from Sheila B. Johnson. Sheila was there from the inception of The WARM Place, served as our first board president, and continues to be a stalwart supporter of our mission to help grieving children after a death loss. While we value all that she does for The WARM Place, we recognize that Sheila has made it her life work to be a proponent for children in all walks of life. She is the voice for those who are too young to have their voices heard. Sheila has made such a difference for many children in our community, and we are honored to claim her as a true friend of The WARM Place. Thank you, Sheila, from the bottom of our hearts!

Sheila B. Johnson

The Day My Life Stood Still

An essay by WARM Place attendee Keyahnah Long, age 17

October 4, 2011 is the day my life changed forever. Waking up late for band rehearsal I walked into my mother's room to ask why she hadn't woken me up. I was stopped in my tracks by the sight of my mother sobbing with head in her hands. The words that left her mouth next would forever be engraved in my memory: "It's Daddy, Munchkin. He's gone."

I couldn't believe what I was hearing. She began to tell me that my father had been sick with cancer. "He didn't want you to worry about him," she said. She described that the cancer had spread to his lungs; his asthma was so serious that when he began to have an asthma attack, he couldn't control it. By the time the paramedics got there, his heart had given up. The paramedics revived him twice, but the third time they weren't able to bring him back. After hearing all of this, I didn't know what to feel. At that moment it felt like my life was over.

The funeral was held in New York, which meant I had to return to school early to pick up my school work so I wouldn't fall behind. Coming back to school so early was extremely hard for me to handle. I felt as if everyone knew and everyone was looking at me differently. After returning from the funeral I was still in the state where socializing with my friends, teachers, and classmates was excruciatingly difficult. I became very distant from everyone and severely depressed. I lost many friends because of this; most of my friends had never gone through what I had, so they couldn't understand how to react to my behavior. Losing my friends made me lonely and left me feeling very unwanted.

The day I started going to The WARM Place, a non-profit organization to help children work with their grief, I started to get my life back. Instead of the one-on-one counseling most people engage in, The WARM Place has peer support groups. Hearing the stories of the people in my group helped me understand that I'm not alone. It gave me the sense that I'm a part of something, even though it's a horrible "group" to be a part of. It made me understand that other people were going through the same thing I was, just with different stories, different experiences, but all ending with the same outcome.

After a few meetings at The WARM Place I began to fix relationships with my friends, I was able to focus on school work, and I began to feel some kind of happiness again. No, I wasn't jumping for joy every morning, but I was able to get up and not want to give up and climb back in bed and never leave. With the help of The WARM Place and my family, I was able to get back on my feet and try to live the life a high school student is meant to.

About Keyahnah:

Keyahnah Long wrote this essay about her father, who died on October 4, 2011, from stomach and esophageal cancer.

Keyahnah grew up in New York City and had to move away after 9/11. She was still able to talk to her dad every week either on the phone or skype, and she got to visit him every summer. The last time she saw him was the summer before he died.

Now Keyahnah is about to graduate from Fossil Ridge High School! She has applied to Southern Nazarene University in Oklahoma with hopes of being a pediatric nurse.

Keyahnah said that The WARM Place "really helped me out a lot. It doesn't make the grief process go any faster, but it helps you through it." She is excited that she is almost old enough to become a volunteer facilitator and start giving back to The WARM Place when she is home on summer vacation!

Volunteer Spotlight

For some people, volunteering at The WARM Place is a family affair. Our volunteer spotlight highlights just a few of the families who attended The WARM Place together as clients and are now paying it forward by volunteering as houseparents and facilitators to support other families on their grief journeys.

Mother and Daughter
Elizabeth and Marsha Coke

Marsha and Elizabeth attended The WARM Place for two years after Marsha's husband, Elizabeth's father, died of a heart attack. Now, Marsha is volunteering as a facilitator in two groups, and Elizabeth volunteers as a facilitator in the same group that she attended as a child!

Marsha: "I'm so proud of my kids for their growth at The WARM Place and for their giving back. I wish there was something I could do to encourage others to get involved."

Elizabeth: "I knew what kind of impact The WARM Place had in my life, and I wanted to help others through their grief journey and share the wisdom that I learned when I was about their age going through the same thing."

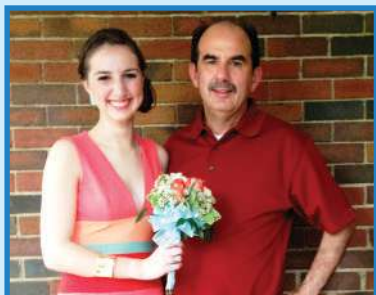

Richard and Cindy attended The WARM Place for one year, after their oldest son died. Following their time here as a family, they signed up to give back and have been volunteering as house parents for over 15 years!

Richard: "The WARM Place showed us that we were not alone. Others have successfully made it through these sad times."

Cindy: "We wanted an opportunity to give back to The WARM Place and show other families the same support that we received."

Husband and Wife
Cindy and Richard Calder

Father and Daughter
Madison and Michael Williams

Michael and Madison attended The WARM Place for a year and a half after Michael's wife, Madison's mother, died of skin cancer. In 2012, Michael decided to start volunteering as a facilitator, and Madison began volunteering as a house parent until she went away to college. Madison makes it a point to sub every time she comes home!

Michael: "I thought it would be a neat tribute to [my late wife] to give back my time. She was always a big proponent of volunteering. Every time I come to The WARM Place, I see hope working to better benefit people's lives. As a facilitator, it has been a rewarding experience watching the teens better understand their grief journey."

Madison: "I learned four key things from The WARM Place: (1) acceptance that the loss really happened, (2) the pain that comes with grief, (3) adjusting to life in a new way without your loved one, and (4) moving on to see the future as light."

Margaret, Eric, and Lily attended The WARM Place for two years after Margaret's husband, the children's father completed suicide. Then Margaret and Lily attended again for another year after Lily's three grandparents died within 9 months. Margaret has now been volunteering as a facilitator for 12 years, Eric volunteered for two years as a facilitator prior to moving from Fort Worth, and Lily currently volunteers as a substitute facilitator!

Margaret: "I witnessed first hand the power of peer support. For the time I was in the group, I was closer to those people than anyone else I knew. No one tried to fix me or tell me what to do; they just supported me on my journey to self discovery and healing."

The WARM Place would like to thank all of our supporters and volunteers who contributed to the success of A Phone Call from Santa 2013! This fundraising campaign was held on December 10th and 11th, and was hosted by Merrill Lynch. Over 100 amazing volunteers generously gave their time and provided their Santa voice to spread the joy of Christmas to over 700 children across the country! A Phone Call from Santa is the highlight of our year and one of the longest-running fundraising campaigns for The WARM Place, raising $56,000 for 2013! We are proud to report that the funds generated from this fundraiser will allow us to provide more than 1120 evening group sessions of grief support, at an average cost of $50 a night, per child.

WHAT THE KIDS TOLD SANTA:

Santa: Hello, this is Santa calling from the North Pole!

Boy: Oh good, I've been meaning to talk to you...that plane you brought me last year didn't have a remote control!

Girl: I want a dinosaur or a dragon.

Santa: What is the difference between a dinosaur and a dragon?

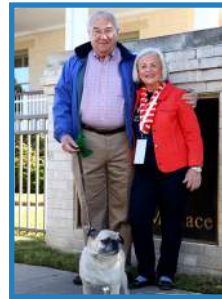

Girl: Well, they're opposites!

FROM A SANTA VOLUNTEER:

"Thank you for doing what you do. Despite the inclement weather, you rallied to make sure all children that were supposed to get calls from Santa did. The gentlemen that support this great cause as Santa came through once again, because we believe in the cause. This is the one volunteer opportunity I do each year and look forward to for many years to come. I just wish I had been introduced to it sooner!"

Walk 2 Remember Them

Current WARM Place board President, Katherine Giuliani, and her daughter, Parks Blackwell, founded and funded the 1st Annual Walk 2 Remember Them, a family fun run/walk in memory of Park's father, John Blackwell. Twenty years ago John died from a heart attack and following his death, Parks and Katherine attended The WARM Place. Since their time as clients of The WARM Place, they have stayed involved and chose this commemorative year to begin an event specifically for the children and families attending our program. The W2RT was held on October 19, 2013 and included a 1 mile trip around the neighborhood. Participants were provided with a 4"x6" photo holder on a lanyard so that they could carry a memory of their loved with them. Following the walk, there was a fun finish line celebration in The WARM Place backyard. It was a beautiful day sharing memories and making new ones. We hope you will join us next year- please visit thewarmplace.org for more information.

Renovating a Home with a Heart

“The WARM Place potluck provides an opportunity to reestablish the family meal as well as offer a sense of community. These renovations will directly impact the healing work that is done in our kitchen every night.” -Shirley Bowen

In honor of the Junior League of Fort Worth’s 85th anniversary and The WARM Place’s 25th anniversary, the Junior League has selected The WARM Place as the recipient of its signature project grant of $85,000!

We will use this generous gift to make much needed renovations to our kitchen and dining room area where we serve potluck dinners to families attending our group support sessions.

“There is a lot of chaos after a death,” says our Executive Director Shirley Bowen, “often resulting in the family meal going by the wayside. Many times the family is not able to face the empty chair at the table. The WARM Place potluck provides an opportunity to reestablish the family meal as well as offer a sense of community. These renovations will directly impact the healing work that is done in our kitchen every night.”

Board Members of the Junior League of Fort Worth present The WARM Place Board with a check for $85,000 to renovate The WARM Place kitchen and dining room!

WARM Place houseparent, Marsha Scroggin helps serve dinner to families on Grandparent Night!

Every evening group begins with a pot luck meal at 6:30. Volunteers and families bring food items to share, houseparents assist with the meal and cleaning up the kitchen, and we even celebrate birthdays once a month!
